

Building for Success

Powerful Relationships With Equine Guidance

Strong relationships are so important to your professional success. From leading and partnering with others to dealing with all sorts of people in every situation, your ability to connect easily determines whether you'll thrive or merely limp along.

But developing powerful connections takes focused attention. Do you ever:

- Feel uncomfortable or unsure when talking with people?
- Envy the ease with which others network and build relationships?
- Wish you could catapult your ability to connect—and watch the results unfold before your eyes?

How Horses Teach You to Connect

In this powerful workshop, you'll get a major tune-up in the way you build relationships. Why work with horses? They, along with Rachel Dexheimer as translator, act as an intuitive mirror to offer direct, nonjudgmental feedback about how you "show up" in the world.

- Gain self-awareness about your relationship strengths and areas of growth
- Uncover specific insights around unconscious patterns that hold you back from accomplishment
- Walk away with practical tools to deepen your relationships and grow your business
